Description

An elegant Edwardian bowl light of refined Neoclassical form, featuring a finely hand-cut glass bowl suspended from three gilt brass chains. The glass dome is beautifully detailed with a deep diamond pattern, designed to refract and scatter light with a subtle brilliance. The circular gilt frame is enriched with delicate scroll and foliate motifs, complementing the crisp geometry of the crystal.

The bowl is suspended from a finely cast gilt brass ceiling rose with stylised acanthus ornamentation, its design balancing strength and grace. This harmonious combination of radiant gilt metal and luminous glass reflects the Edwardian passion for both craftsmanship and grandeur.
